

Statia Day 2015 in pictures

Hoisting of the flags during the opening ceremony of Statia Day at Fort Oranje.

Island Governor Gerald Berkel, Nevis' Premier Vance Amory, Island Councilman Clyde van Putten and former Island Secretary Jan Helmond inspecting uniformed groups.

Delegates and invited guests observing a moment of silence for the victims of the terrorist attacks in Paris, France. Flags were flown at half-mast at the police station.

Members of Parliament from Curaçao made a presentation to Governor Berkel and Island Council Members at the Golden Era hotel.

Police officers stand prepared in the bastion to fire 13 gunshots for the re-enactment of the First Salute.

Premier of Nevis Vance Amory (centre) is welcomed by Azaria Hudson on behalf of the St. Kitts and Nevis Association Foundation upon his arrival in St. Eustatius at F.D. Roosevelt Airport.

Brass band playing the Golden Rock Song.

Nevis Premier pays short visit to Statia

ST. EUSTATIUS--Premier of Nevis Vance Amory paid a short official two-day visit to St. Eustatius in connection with Statia Day.

The leader of government of neighbouring Nevis was officially welcomed Sunday at F.D. Roosevelt Airport by Island Governor Gerald Berkel, Island Councilman Clyde van Putten and Protocol Officer Mercedes Lopes-Spanner.

Upon his arrival Amory was presented with a bouquet of flowers by Azaria Hudson, daughter of the President of the St. Kitts and Nevis Association Foundation.

Premier Amory was also greeted by association members during a meet-and-greet at the Governor's Mansion. While at the Governor's office, Governor Berkel presented Amory with Statia's Coat of Arms.